Guidelines for Groups working with children and vulnerable adults

Physical contact

Physical Contact with children and vulnerable adults should be avoided unless it is necessary to ensure their safety or that of others.

Contact/dressing up

A parent or carer should be present at all times.

No clothing should be removed in the process of dressing up.

If necessary children should be encouraged to dress themselves, regardless of the amount of time they may take.

Performances/activities

Children must not be left alone during any part of a performance or activity. If at all possible, children should not be separated from their parents at any time. If a child is separated from a parent during a performance/activity they must not be left alone with a visitor.

Notes:

The Golden Rule - safety in numbers. Organisers should not work alone with children or vulnerable adults. If you are working with a child try to make sure that there is another adult with you. If this is not possible make sure that more than one child is present.

Err on the side of caution – it is better to be safe than sorry.

Setting Up

Stallholders are responsible for setting up of their own stand area.

Responsibility of Exhibitors and Stallholders

Stallholders will assume full responsibility therefore, including liability for all claims arising out of the exhibition or handling of such exhibits and the conduct of their stand generally. Acceptance of the foregoing condition shall be a condition of entry.

Trade Limitations

The Museum retain the right to demand the withdrawal of any stall that it considers unworthy of being shown, to include unsightly or unsuitable stands, staging or content. The Museum requests all stall holders/exhibitors respect their visitors, staff and the historic significance of the site.

Allocation of sites

The allocation of sites and positioning of pitches will be entirely at the discretion of the Museum, although every endeavour will be made to meet any request made regarding the positioning of their stand. No guarantees can be given.

The Museum will not be held responsible for damage caused to the site by a third party, and will not undertake to make good such damage. Stands and Gazebos must be erected in such a way that they do not overshadow a neighbouring stand.

Photographs

The Museum may wish to take photographs of your stand for inclusion in future publicity and for the Museum archives. Please indicate on your Booking Form if you do not wish photographs of your stand to be used for this purpose.

Litter and Waste Disposal

Exhibitors/ Stallholders must keep their stand and adjacent areas clear of litter. Stallholders who have food waste must provide their own bins. You must take all your rubbish away with you.
